DEER RESISTANT PLANTS

As co-inhabitants of the Front Range and Mountain Community, we have quite a time keeping our yards free from the destruction of our friend, the deer. Even though we may love to see them running through the fields and forests, we don't necessarily want to offer our lovely landscapes as their dinner tables. Therefore, we have put together a list of the plants that deer will rarely eat. Of course in times of environmental stress, even these plants and shrubs are not toally safe. We hope this list will help bring you success in your landscape plan.
